

Fling into Spring at Wine Country's Swankiest Spots

While the yo-yo weather of spring threatens to rain on your parade these swanky spots give you reason to rally. Whether you crave sleek designs and striking spaces or smooth wines and succulent bites, get ready to be enthralled by it all.

Redd Wood (above), 6755 Washington Street, Yountville, CA 94599

Casual comfort meets industrial-chic interior in this Erin Martin-designed space (she's the same designer behind one of our all-time favorite Wine Country homes). This wood-fire, pie-tossing joint is everything its sister haunt Redd is not. Sleek-yet-approachable with exposed, wooden lath-lined walls, mismatched chairs and eclectic pieces all contributing to the relaxed vibe. The “Wappo Hill” emblazoned mailbox parked at the center of the custom-fabricated wine wall sparks conversation, while the handwritten quotes scribbled throughout the space speak volumes.

Click here to read about three more swanky spots!

By Christina Julian on April 17, 2012 4:00 PM

under Napa, California Home & Design Magazine